

Environmental Council of the States (ECOS)

June 7 – 8, 2012

Washington, DC

Save the Date

ECOS invites you to join the leadership of state environmental agencies for a wide-ranging look at how states are accomplishing their goals given shrinking budgets, increased rules, and more complex pollution problems.

State Environmental Protection in 2012 (STEP 2012) will feature state environmental commissioners/directors engaging representatives of federal agencies, industry, environmental groups, think tanks, associations, and legal and political consulting firms to address today's most pressing environmental issues.

Implementation of the nation's environmental statutes at the state level provides many challenges as well as opportunities. Topics for discussion will include:

◆ More Rules, Less Money

- ◆ Air & Energy
- ◆ Innovation
- ◆ Green Energy (DoD/States)
- ◆ Toxics Reform
- ◆ Coal Ash
- ◆ Nonpoint Sources

Sponsorship opportunities are still available!
