The 2020 ECOS State Environmental Protection (STEP) Meeting, Partnering on PFAS, is a two-afternoon, virtual policy summit to explore how state and federal regulators and a variety of other stakeholders are coordinating to combat PFAS contamination.

ECOS STEP is a uniquely interactive educational forum. Panel participants are discussion leaders, and the purpose of each session is to provide a forum for state officials, federal governmental agencies, business and industry, nonprofits, and others to offer their unique perspectives on addressing priority and/or emerging environmental issues. Although this year’s annual STEP meeting has been moved to a virtual forum, ECOS will do its best to facilitate robust discussion and deliver the same standards of meeting success.

3:55 – 4:40 p.m.

Open Discussion: What’s Next?
This session will allow time for audience participation in a discussion on how to apply what we have learned about PFAS to other emerging contaminants of concern, as well as highlight potential knowledge gaps or impending legislation that may occur on PFAS. Potential topics to discuss could include designating PFAS as hazardous substances, regulating PFAS as a group or subclasses, establishing standards for certain PFAS, or avoiding regrettable substitutions.

The audience will be split into breakout rooms, to be moderated by:
- Ben Grumbles, ECOS Secretary-Treasurer and Secretary, Maryland Department of the Environment (Invited)
- Pat McDonnell, ECOS Vice President and Secretary, Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Protection (Confirmed)
- Catherine McCabe, Commissioner, New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection (Confirmed)

A summary of each discussion will be drafted and distributed to meeting participants in early August.

4:40 – 4:45 p.m.

Wrap-Up and Closing Remarks
Jim Macy, ECOS President and Director, Nebraska Department of Environment & Energy
