

ECOS Speaker Guidelines

The following guidelines apply to speakers and moderators of the ECOS 2022 Spring Meeting, Engaging for Action. These guidelines have been adapted from previous ECOS meetings to ensure a valuable experience for all.

Making Your Session Engaging

- ECOS encourages an atmosphere of open discussion versus a series of lengthy presentations. Toward that end, each roundtable panelist's opening remarks will be limited to five minutes, and at least one-third of the time in each roundtable will be set aside for open discussion among all attendees.
- Sessions will consist of one moderator and 2-5 panelists. Moderators in some cases will also serve as presenters, and will kick off discussion with questions (no opening remarks from panelists).
- One third of each session will be reserved for Q&A.
- Speakers and moderators are welcome to use PowerPoint, but please emphasize graphics and key words, and refrain from using text-heavy slides. If appropriate, videos may be used.
- Feel free to pose questions of other speakers in order to stimulate discussion. You may send these to your ECOS staff session lead ahead of the meeting if you'd like other participants to prepare.

Action Items

- March 30: Please send to your ECOS staff session lead any PowerPoints, videos, or materials to be shared.
- ECOS will post links for relevant materials to the 2022 ECOS Spring Meeting webpage so that attendees can easily access them.

About the Spring Meeting

- The meeting is open to the press.
- No formal record or report is generated by ECOS from the meeting, but light meeting notes will be taken.
- The dress code is business casual.

Thank you for helping to make our meeting a success. We appreciate your participation and your enthusiasm for sharing your expertise.
